ARE MORE CONNECTED THAN YOU THINK

PETE'S COACH, BOB

When Grace offered to help the team by keeping the books for the concessions, Bob saw she had a real knack. He needed that kind of reliable help with his business, and Grace was working out really well. What a relief to know you could still find reliable help these days.

HER SON, PETE

Pete always knew things could be different. The past six months, his mom has been home all the time and doing pretty good. So does Pete. He was pretty proud of his grades last week, but the best thing is that his mom is at all his baseball games. She cheers louder than anyone else, too.

MEET GRACE.

She's about to lose everything. Her job, her house, even custody of her son. Her last DUI means she goes to jail or goes into a program. The Teton County DUI/Drug Court is her last option.

THE JUDGE

This is the third time he's seen Grace in his court for drinking and driving. He wants her off the street. He wants her to get help before she kills herself or someone else. He can give her three months in jail, but he'd rather she gave herself her life back. He tells her to take the DUI/Drug Court seriously. It's her best hope, and his, too.

Grace meets her substance abuse counselor the same day she's assigned a probation officer. One says she can help Grace quit drinking for good. The other says he sees the DUI/Drug Court work for a lot of people. But if she drinks again, he'll take her in.

TETON COUNTY
DUI/DRUG COURT

Grace's life looks totally different since she got sober. So does Pete's and Bob's, not to mention the others who she affected. The Judge. The probation officer and counselor, her neighbors, co-workers and friends of Pete's. Grace's success with the DUI/Drug Court program created a ripple of success all around her.

Whether you know it or not, it touches your life too.
